

DUDA COMPRA COMETA LYNX

Escrito por juanle - 01/04/2013 20:51

Buenas, acabo de registrarme, de crio (acabo de cumplir 50) era aficionado al aire comprimido, y la verdad es que no era del todo malo (una vez mi equipo gano un concurso, aunque he de confesar que no comparecieron el resto de los competidores). El caso es que hace unos meses he encontrado mi vieja carabina (una Gamo DS) en un trastero, la he desarmado, engrasado, limpiado el oxido y arreglado un par de tornillos que tenía rotos, y parece que anda bien de potencia, pese a los años sin uso; pero supongo que dado el uso intensivo que le dí en su día (las estrías del cañon andan bastante gastadas), y a que las miras (no tiene railes para poner visores de aumento) no son gran cosa, no soy capaz de hacer agrupaciones aceptables ni a 10 mts.

Estoy pensando pillarme una PCP, para, de entrada practicar tiro de precisión a dianas pequeñas (o como lo llameis) dentro de una huerta amurallada que tiene un máximo de 55 mts; de momento no me interesa la competición, (tengo miopia, presbicia, astigmatismo, etc, y creo que supondría un handicap)

Por lo que he leído en internet, la PCP Linx V10 tiene una buena relación calidad/precio, (aunque algunos tambien discrepan) y un magnifico servicio postventa; me considero bastante manitas (nacé el mismo día que el actor que hacía McGyver :-)), pero por lo que veo en este foro, el despiece y ajuste de los trastos modernos supera en mucho mis habilidades iniciales

Mis dudas son:

¿Se ajusta a lo que necesito? (tiros a un máximo de 50 mts con la mayor precisión posible)

¿Que calibre seria el idóneo?, por lo que leo parece que el 5,5

La mira Leapers 3-9x40 que aparece en un kit ¿Es lo que se ajusta a mis necesidades?

¿Cuanto tiempo hay que darle a la bomba de mano para conseguir la presión correcta? Me han dicho que incluso tienden a tener pérdidas de aire, y me preocupa

Gracias anticipadas por vuestros consejos

J. Lestón

A ver compañero si puedo ayudar.

Primero decirte que la Cometa linx es una excelente carabina para tus propositos, lo de fugar aire no es habitual ni mucho menos. Otra cosa es que haya muchos maestros armeros y luego pasa lo que pasa, pero nueva y con los cuidados mínimos deberias tener carabina para muchos años sin problemas.

En cuanto a poder tirar a 50 m. casi cualquier carabina actual es valida y la Linx porsupuesto.

Asimismo te sirve cualquier calibre, tanto el 4,5 como el 5,5. Si no has usado una carabina desde la época de tu Gamo esta te parecerá cosa de otro mundo, je je.

El visor para dianas fijas puede servirte.
